Sensory Processing “Think Sensory Not Behaviour” Training Course for Mainstream School Educational Staff & Parents

Do you work with children displaying challenging behaviours, frequent outbursts, and unpredictable, anxious, struggling to sit still, sensory seeking or difficulty entering school?

Our training will help you understand Sensory Processing and how difficulties can affect a child's function, motivation and attention.

Using fun practical workshops, the day will equip staff/parents with a greater knowledge and insight to this complex area, whilst providing easy activities/tools to design a sensory routine to implement in the classroom.

Following training each participant will be able to:

- ❖ Recognise potential sensory difficulties and the effect on the child's behaviour.
- ❖ Utilise user friendly activities and techniques to meet the child's sensory needs.
- ❖ Design and implement a sensory routine to improve attention control and reduce inappropriate behaviour in the classroom.
- ❖ To provide a happier positive learning environment for all children and staff to benefit their education and maximise their learning ability.
